Normal School of Physical Education, Battle Creek, Mich.; Top-Sergeant, A. E. F., 85th Division; Athletic Director, Camp Sevier, under auspices of Y. M. C. A.

Alumni Hall

*To these walls of gray
The ivy clings
With the tendrils
That seek to embrace.*

*To these walls of gray
Our mem'ry clings,
For we love their
Beauty and grace.*

Jacobs Science Hall

*A compound,
A test tube,
A jet of flame,
Are juggled by scientists, they say;
And the results they see
Are mystery
To those that do not "compre."*

*A green rat,
A good strap,
A faculty,
Are juggled at P. C., they say;
And the results we see
Are mystery
To those that do not "compre."*

Lovers' Lane

*In this bit of woods
We loved to roam,
When our hearts were sad
And we thought of home.
On a Sunday here
We loved to walk,
Of our future argue,
And think and talk.
Oh, the wondrous castles
That we did build!
Even yet our dreams
May be fulfilled.
In this sylvan dell,
This sweet retreat,
In the future years
May we often meet.*

A Formal Garden

*A worthless field that naught did yield
Was changed by a master hand.
Here now a sight of pure delight,
The fairest in the land.*

*Our college day was naught but play
'Till changed by the Master Hand.
So now in life, thru toil and strife,
Help us to play the man.*

Judd Dining Hall

*Oh, Patience, incarnate essence of bull,
Sweet lovely slush, how often did we
Bow before thy shrine and learn
To keep thy precepts while
Waiting outside this Portal.*

*Yea, verily, we did wait, and wait,
And wait, and ——
Wait here like Mary's little lamb
'Till Mickle did appear and ring
His little bell and bid
Us enter. Yet alas, alack, when we
Went in we found nothing, yea
Worse than nothing—hash, hot dogs,
Salmon—Ugh! ?! ?!*

Spencer Hall

*Here we lived and had our being,
Here we dreamed of days to be.
Here, when all our cares went fleeing,
We were wont so merrily
To chase the "rats," and of that tiring,
Sit outside the pillared door,
Sing 'till bricks at us were firing.
Oh, to have those days once more!*

Across the Campus

*The lawn and trees,
The gentle breeze,
The halls of beauty rare,
The sky of blue,
All make for you
A sight that's wondrous fair.*

Laurens Hall

*When the twilight has stolen the sun's last ray,
And the shadows, long, mark the close of day,
There's a stillness that gathers around this Hall,
There's a quiet that broods. It is like a pall
On all around.*

*In the windows we see there the lights that gleam
As we see some work and we see some dream.
But the dreamers are few, for here we do know
There are men that toil 'till the cock doth crow
And sleep comes sound.*

The Home of Peace

*Many were the happy hours that
We spent here when we were allowed
To come over and have a "party."
And do you remember the long afternoons*

*That we used to walk up and down the Street, hoping to catch a glimpse
Of "her"? Oh, it was a great
Life—if you didn't weaken.*

The Plaza

*And lastly we come
To the view of the Plaza.
Some day we hope to see
Beautiful buildings all up and
Down the campus.
But tho she may grow in buildings,
P. C. can never grow dearer to
Our hearts. Good-bye, fair campus!
May you mean the same to future
Generations that you have to us.*

Vanity Fair

Beautiful Women

*Beautiful Women! How they attract us, draw
Us, entice us! Beautiful Women, not Vamps,
Flappers, cooing doves, but Real Women. We look into
Their eyes and catch a glimpse of Heaven.
We gaze upon their tresses and catch the glint of Gold or see the shades of
Empyrean night.
We look upon their faces and see
Perfection.*

*Beautiful Women! The perfect work of God,
Made for man, that they might draw him away
From the Sordid things of life and give
Him a deeper, more abiding, more sustaining
Faith in the things that are good.*

*Beautiful Women! Found everywhere, in the Valley of the Nile, on the hilltops of the West,
On the plains of the Orient, in the Cities of the North. Beautiful Women, everywhere,
But none to match those of the Sunny Southland.
We of the South are proud of our King,
Cotton. But we worship our Queen,
Woman.*

*Turn these pages tenderly, for here are
Faces dear to our hearts and we would not have them
Profaned.*

The Classes

PHOSAC

The Class of Nineteen-Twenty

We are proud of P. C., and we are proud of this class which will go out from our midst in June. The men of the Class of '20 have always stood for the best things in college life and we believe that no previous class can come up to them in the record of things achieved. Over ninety per cent of the men served in the army in the Great War, some seeing service in France. They founded the Blue Stocking, instituted a new form of Student Government and did many other things for the good of the college. We hate to see them go, but we know that their influence will still play an important part here on the campus, for they were real men. Goodbye, Nineteen Twenty, we wish you the best that's in life.

Senior Class

JAMES HASKELL DULIN

CLOVER, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1915; Member Eukosmian Society, First Monitor, President; President Class, Class Poet; Assistant Football Manager, Class Football, Class Basketball, Varsity Football; Pac-Sac Staff; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; President Student Body.

James Haskell Dulin, or "Saint Paul," as we all know him, believes that all things come to those who are persistent in well doing. Having entered college as a Sub-Freshman, he has climbed steadily upward until he has at last attained the last round. We find in Dulin the traits of character that make a man. He has always been popular among the students, taking an active part in all the college activities. As president of the student body he has been fearless in all his undertakings and has stood for those things that tend to build up a good student body. Dulin will some day be a strong, influential citizen in whatever community he chooses to reside.

PAC SAC Senior Class

PARKS WATSON WILSON

DUE WEST, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1916; Member Eukosmian Society, Monitor, Corresponding Secretary; Winner Alumni Orator's Medal; State Orators' Contest; Coll-igan Staff; Blue Stocking Staff; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Class Football, Class Basketball, Class Baseball, Varsity Baseball; President Freshman Class.

"P. W.," as he is known by all his classmates, and "Parks," as he is known by Dr. James B. Kennedy, hails from the "Holy City" of Due West. We don't know why he strayed from the straight and narrow path and came to P. C., nor does it matter. The fact remains the same that for the past four years the Presbyterian College of South Carolina has been greatly benefited by having "P. W." on her campus. He was for two years Dr. Douglas' right-hand man and chauffeur, and we suppose he would still hold that position save for the fact that the "College Ford" no longer exists. "P. W." is decidedly addicted to the habit of travel, and all during his four years of college work he never missed an opportunity of going out of town for the week end. It didn't matter to him where he went, the essential thing was that he go. However, he usually went to Greenville, coming back by way of Due West of course to get his ticket punched. Laying all jokes aside and looking at this young man from all sides, we find many things about him to be admired. He has become quite famous as an orator, having won second place at the state orators' contest. We shall expect to hear great things of him in the future when he has at last settled down to some kind of professional work.

Senior Class

LEWIS BROWNING WOODSON

STOCKBRIDGE, GA.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College 1916; Member Philomathean Society; Door Keeper, Conductor, Secretary, Critic, Inter-society and Commencement Orator, Poet, Historian and Vice-President of Class; First Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Varsity Football, Varsity Basketball; Utility Baseball; Wearer of "P"; Associate Editor Blue Stocking; Editor-in-Chief Collegian; Editor-in-Chief Annual; President Cotillion Club; President North Carolina Club.

Gentlemen, this is he. When there is need of the talent of a really versatile man, call on "Louie" and your needs will be fully met. During his stay of four years with us this son of destiny has tasted college life from every angle and is equally at home in the Society Hall, in the class room, and on the athletic field. As an athlete he is known all over our fair Palmetto State, but we small town folk know him just as "Woody," capable of wielding the editorial pen to a finish, capable of pouring forth floods of oratory, capable of expatiating extensively to the curious ears that would learn more of the "Pou Sto." He is now ready to become a citizen of the world, and it is the expectation of everyone of us who know him that some day not far in the future some bench of the Supreme Court will be sat upon by none other than this same "Louie." But all the benches of all the judges in the world do not appeal to him as does a little matter over the way. And in this also we wish him success. She's a mighty fine little lady. Keep up the work, old boy, and your brain and wit and joviality will do the rest.

PAC-SAC

Senior Class

THOMAS HAL CLARK

SUMTER, S. C.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1916; Member Philomathean Society; Censor; Vice-President; President; Declaimers' Contest; Orators' Contest; Varsity Basketball; Wearer of "P"; Class Poet; Class Secretary.

Behold a true "Shield and Shadow." Hal came to us from Sumter and he is truly proud of that fact. We, too, are proud of the fact that Sumter chose to send us such a lad. Hal has been a "Pal" of the class during his college career. He was never very fond of study, but always did enough to make his professors think he was a very brilliant boy. He spent a great part of his time in the Biology and Chemistry laboratories, laying the foundations for his future career as a physician. However, he devoted part of his time to Philosophy, which study he considers very essential for the mental training. In athletics he excelled in basketball, having made an excellent record on the Varsity team for two years. Hal expects to attend a night school where he will take a course in "How to Court a Girl by Proxy," and then he is going to embark on the sea of life.

Senior Class

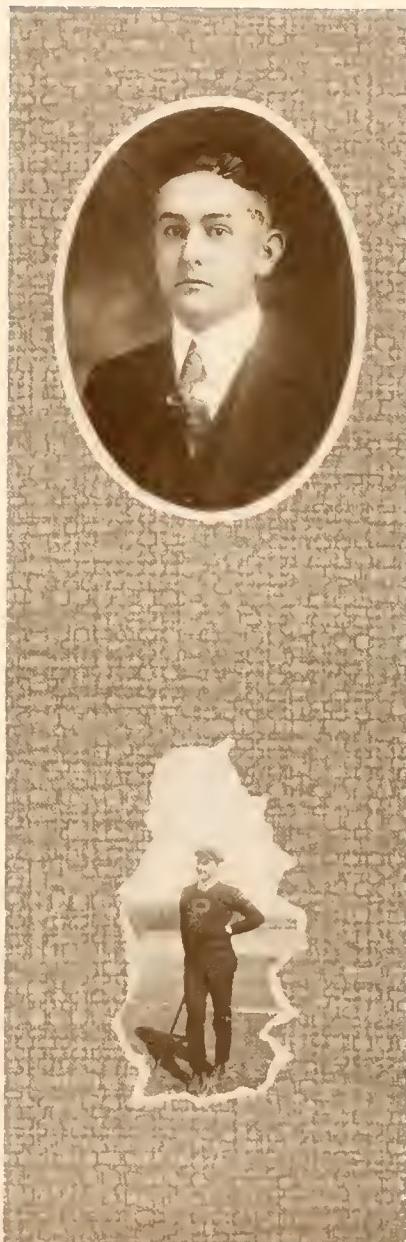

WILLIE CALDWELL FLANAGAN

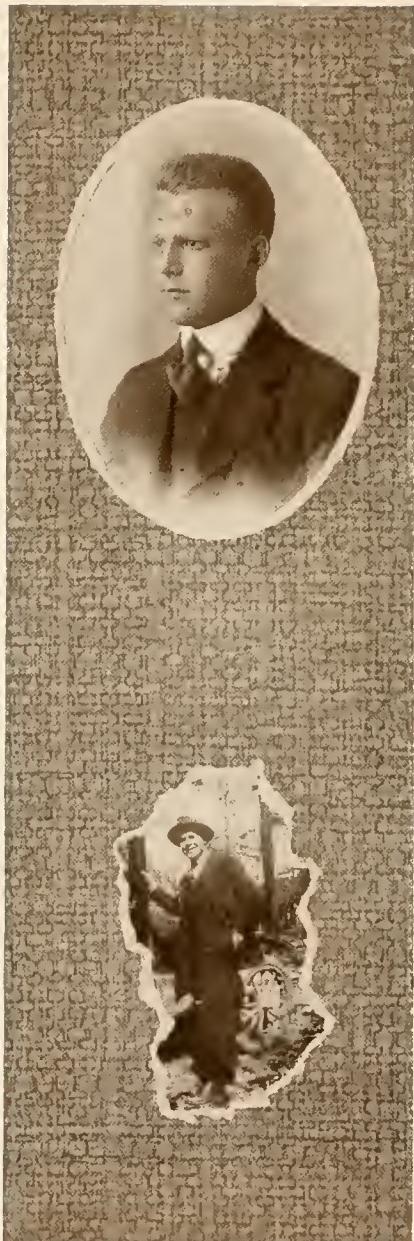

BOWLING GREEN, S. C.

A.B.; Phi.

"Dutch" or "Soph" Flanney hails from the little village of Bowling Green; yes, he says Bowling Green is on the map and it is. Following in the footsteps of his older brother, Flanagan has always made good marks on all his classes. Howe er, he never let his studies interfere with his outside work. Flanagan is a good-hearted boy and has friends by the score. He likes to have a good time and is always on hand when there is any fun going on. He is sometimes accused of being a little lazy, but just because he likes to take a little "Beauty Sleep" in the mornings is no reason for any such accusation. He is serious of purpose and will make a success out of anything he undertakes. "Never worry" has been his motto all through his college course, and if anyone has gotten more out of college than "Flanney" has, he has go'ten a great deal. May his sunny smile and cheerful disposition follow him all throug'n life, and may these characteristics help him win the heart of some fair maiden who will be fortunate in sharing his happiness with him.

Senior Class

MARSHALL SCOTT WOODSON

STOCKBRIDGE, GA.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1914; Member Philomathean Society, Doorkeeper, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, President; Class Historian, Vice-President Class; Declaimers' Contest; Pac-Sac Staff; Manager Glee Club; Assistant Manager Baseball; Varsity Football; Cheer Leader; Blue Stocking Staff; Inter-society Orator; President Debating Council; U. S. Navy.

Marshall is not an original member of our class, for he began a year before we did. He was among the first to enlist when our country called for men in the spring of 1917. And so he spent almost two years in the navy serving his country. When he was released from the navy he came straight back to us and has been a loyal member of our class. We can truly say that we are glad that Marshall was one of us, for his pleasant manner, his beaming smile, and his warm friendship have meant a whole lot to each of us. Marshall is a gentleman in the true sense of the word; he is courteous, kind to all, and polite at all times. Some wonder why he always "stands in" with everybody, but those who know him intimately can easily see why it is. It is just Marshall's knack, his personality, his individual tact that enable him to occupy that distinctive position of "standing in." He has always been a good student, a good athlete, and at the same time a ladies' man. He has always been in love, that is as long as we have known anything about him, and he seems to like the situation fine. We don't know what young lady has the key to his heart, but the one who wins the heart of this man will have won a treasure. In whatever field of service you enter, Marshall, always remember that you have a host of friends who wish you well.

Senior Class

WILLIAM GORDON NEVILLE

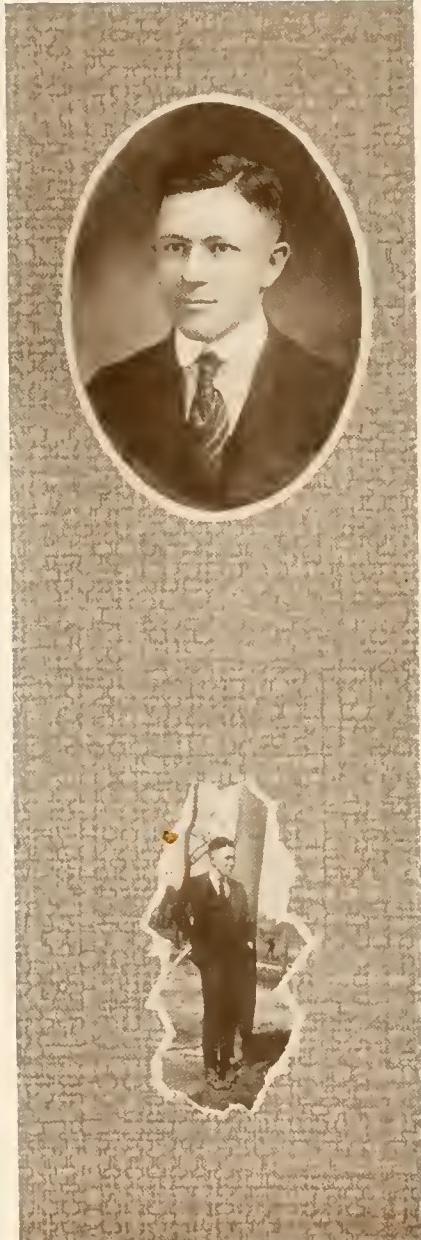

CLINTON, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1914; Member Eukosmian Literary Society; Member Glee Club; Class Baseball; Class Basketball; Class Football; Varsity Football; Collegian Staff; Pac-Sac Staff.

Here he is! "Hap" is the life of the whole college. He greets you always with a smile, rain or shine. This member of our class after spending quite a while in the air service of Uncle Sam, returned to us and joined in the weary pilgrimage toward the "Dip." Considered from every angle, he is a real man, one of whom the whole class is proud. He is good natured, witty, and full of life. It was a great temptation for him not to become a second Charlie Chaplin, but he had a greater ambition than that. He is even now looking forward to the time when he shall have completed his course in the Seminary and his "Ship(pey)" shall have come in, then his life will be one sweet song. Then he will no longer be known as "Hap," but will be known far and wide as that "Happy" man, for we knew that "Happy is he who, knowing the will of God, doeth it."

Senior Class

SAMUEL WILKES DENDY

SENECA, S. C.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1915; Member Philomathean Society, Chaplain, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Vice President, President; Winner Declaimers' Medal, Orators' Contest, Inter-society Debater; President Class, Class Historian; Director Glee Club; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Collegian Staff; Blue Stocking Staff; Debating Council; Cheer Leader; U. S. Navy.

"Precious things are done up in small packages," is a saying often quoted. We have found this to be true in the personality of "Runt" Dendy. Small of stature, but big hearted and friendly in disposition, he easily wins the love of mankind and "womankind." He was not only a good student but was good at anything he undertook. He is perfectly at home when it comes to public speaking, debating or even singing. Indeed, he is at heart a musician, having taken great interest in the Glee Club during his entire college course. Not only is he a lover of good music, but a great admirer of beauty. He loves the birds, the flowers, the free open air, in fact Nature as a whole appeals to him very decidedly. His greatest love, however, is manifested in his devotion to the "fair sex." He is a lover of the great American home and some day he hopes to have his fond hopes realized when he has his little bungalow by the side of the road completed. There Wilkes will be happy because "she" will be there to cheer and comfort him as he goes about laboring in the Master's vineyard.

Senior Class

MARTIN GILLESPIE NEELY

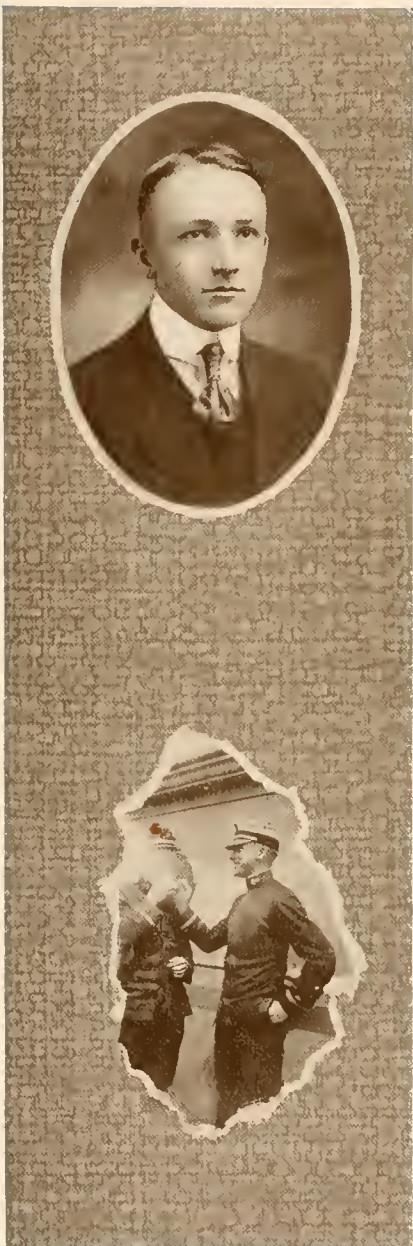

ANDERSON, S. C.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1917; Member Philomathian Society; Class Historian; Glee Club; Varsity Track; Captain Cross Country Team; Wearer of the "P"; Class Football, Basketball, Baseball.

Martin has had easy sailing through college as he had the reputation of his older brother to go on. He never had to worry as did the rest of us as to whether or not he would pass on this or that. Somehow things came easy for him. Even when he was called upon to deliver an oration in public he would simply shut his eyes and the eloquence would flow out in torrents as from an inexhaustible source. He has always taken an active part in college life, not neglecting athletics. When it comes to running Neely is just a little bit ahead of every one else, having led our men in the cross-country run for two years. He is also somewhat of a musician! Many a night he has played lullabys on his cornet while we would gradually lose ourselves in the land of nod, only to be awakened in the morning by the same instrument making the horrible sounds of reveille. But he couldn't help that and we have forgiven him for it all. Here is a man of serious purpose and we know that some day we will hear of Martin G. Neely as the leading physician of Anderson, S. C.

Senior Class

CARL WALKER McMURRAY

LANCASTER, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1915; Member Eukosmian Society; Sergeant-at-Arms, First Monitor, Treasurer, President; Secretary Class, Treasurer Class, Vice-President Class; Business Manager Collegian; Editor Blue Stocking; Inter-society Debater; Oratorical Contest; Debating Council; Winner Eukosmian Improvement Medal; Winner Inter-society Declaimer's Medal; Class Basketball, Captain Class Football; Assistant Manager Baseball; Varsity Track Team; U. S. Navy.

To many minds here is a man capable of making a million American dollars. If he himself said that such a thing had been planned by him that would settle it, for "Mac" is a man of his word above all else. In his latest project, the founding of The Blue Stocking, he has given simply one more evidence of his confidence in ability, pluck, and one hundred per cent hard work. After his cruise of considerably more than a year and of many thousand miles of sea duty in the United States Navy, Mac returned to the school of his choice and now it has become his Alma Mater. It has been a privilege to each man of the Class of '20 to know this man more intimately, and he has taught many of us not a few valuable lessons. This good natured, kindly, reliable old Mac is some day going to make his mark, and that mark, whatever it is, is going to be a high one. Girls have not yet captured his heart, but whoever She is, and whenever she comes to claim it, she will find indeed a heart of gold. A man of letters, a loyal Democrat, and an outspoken gentleman of convictions, here is a man we are glad to call a graduate of P. C., and P. C. looks to him for accomplishments at least as great as the building of the Panama or the tunneling of the Hudson.

Senior Class

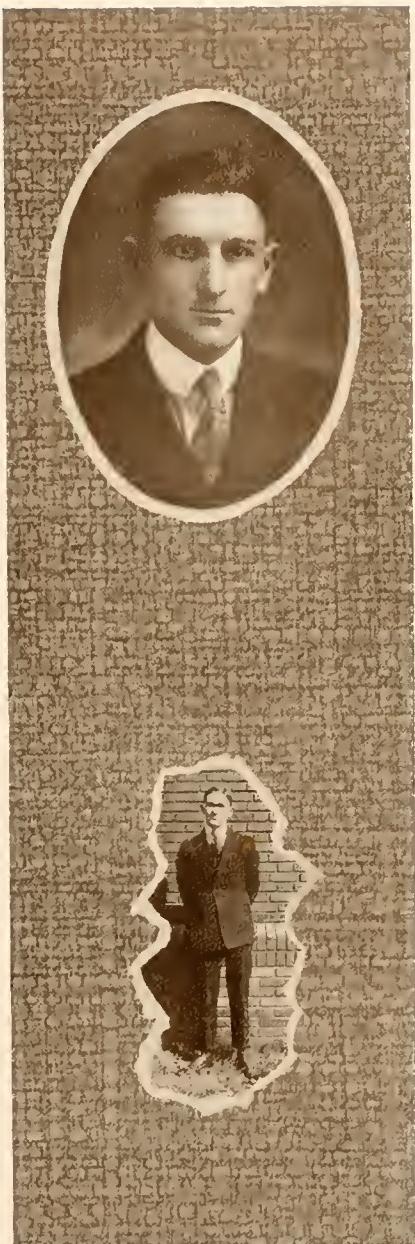

ARTHUR THADDEUS TAYLOR

CLINTON, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1916; Member Eukosmian Society.

It is seldom that you find a young man more gentle than is Taylor. He is rather quiet in his manner, but possesses those traits of character that make up a true gentleman. He spent a year in the navy since entering college, but as soon as he got out of the Navy he returned with that same spirit of determination to finish his college course. Taylor has been a good student in college, always being prepared for his daily recitations. He is always on time and can be depended upon for anything you ask him to do. Some day we are going to be proud of the fact that Taylor was one of our number, for he is going to make his mark in the world. May the same spirit of determination that has dominated his life through college lead him on to higher things during the years to come.

Senior Class

DAVISON HAFNER DULIN

BOWLING GREEN, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1917; Member Eukosmian Society, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary; Class Football and Basketball.

He had no other name save "Dulin, D. H." to distinguish him from the other Dulins. But what is in a name? It matters not whether he had a nick-name or not, for his character is there just the same. This Dulin came to us in our Sophomore year with the determination to graduate with us and he has not failed in his purpose. Dulin has always been a good, hard-working student, always to be found in a good humor no matter what he had to do. He never went to class unprepared, which is something unusual among college students. Dulin expects to become a minister, and in this calling we wish him well.

Senior Class

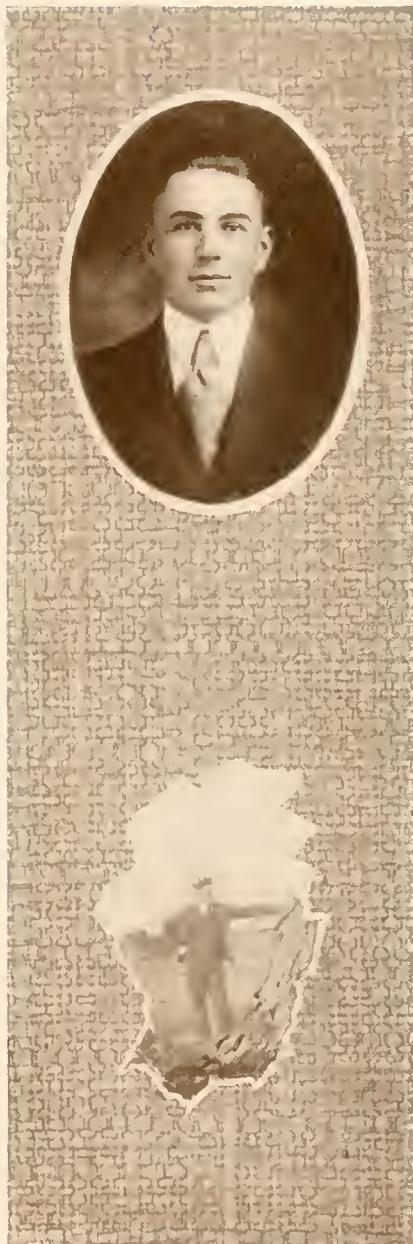

THEODORE BECKETT HAY

MARTIN'S POINT, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1916; Member Eukosmian Society, Conductor, Corresponding Secretary, Critic, Winner Eukosmian Improvement Medal; Declaimers' Contest; Pac-Sac Staff; Assistant Manager Basketball; Manager Basketball; Class Football; Class Basketball; Varsity Football.

This member of our class, becoming tired of seashore life, came to P. C., not merely to obtain an education, but that he might shed light upon all his classmates. Also that he might enlighten them by telling them about the garden spot of the world, Martin's Point. "Acre" is proud of his little town beside the sea and he never tires of telling others about it. He has been a good, faithful member of our class, always ready to help when called upon to perform any duty. He is a little bit fond of the ladies, and wherever there is anything doing there you will find "Acre." Those of us who know him more intimately are convinced that he is destined to become a philosopher, for he has a decided philosophical tendency. On more than one occasion he has held the class spellbound while he expounded the doctrine of Pantheism. Whatever he decides to do we feel sure that he will make a success of it, for he has those traits of character found only in a man of ability and determination.

Senior Class

RUSSELL WHITE PARK

WINNSBORO, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1916; Member Eukosmian Society; Sergeant-at-Arms; Cross Country Team; Wearer of "P"; Class Football, Class Bas ball, Class Basketba l; Ministerial Band.

"Preacher" Park says he lives at Winnsboro, but we really think he lives nearer Bucklick. This tall specimen of humanity has at last found out why he was built upon such good foundations, for he since being in college has begun to realize that a man must have a solid foundation if he is to stand up under the cares and responsibilities placed upon a college man. He not only has big feet, but he has a big heart as well, which is something to be admired in this man. "Preacher" is always the same easy-going fellow, never in a bad humor, but always greets you with a smile. He expects to become a minister as soon as time permits, thereby living up to his applied nickname.

Senior Class

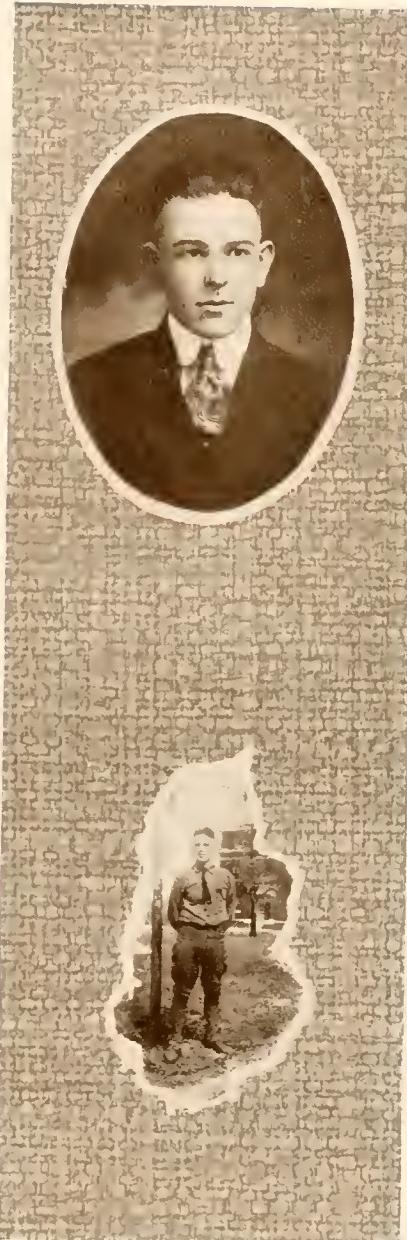

ROBERT ALLISON HOPE

WALTERBORO, S. C.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1916; Member Philomathean Society, Recording Secretary, Treasurer, Critic; Class Historian; Collegian Staff; Varsity Baseball.

Robert is the baby of the class, being only nineteen years old. He doesn't know how he happened to finish college so young, except that he just started off life at an earlier stage than most of us do. He is very quiet in his manner and somewhat retiring for one of his age. At all times of day and night Robert could be found in his room peacefully reposing on his bed reading some of the current literature of the day. He is very fond of reading; perhaps this accounts for his staying in at nights when the rest of us would be gathering the latest news from some of the fair sex in town. Robert was always a conscientious student, however, and will make a success some of these days in the medical world if he carries out his present intentions.

PAC-SAC

Senior Class

WILLIAM PETER BECKMAN

MCCLELLANVILLE, S. C.

B.A.; Eu&.

Entered College in 1916; Member Eukosmian Society, First Monitor, Treasurer, Vice-President; Class Historian; Collegian Staff; Vice-President Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President Student Body; Vice-President Athletic Association; Pac-Sac Staff; Varsity Baseball; Great and Mighty Woozlesnifter.

William Peter Beckman, better known as "Peter," hails from McClellanville. In this mass of humanity we find many things to be admired. During "Peter's" four years at P. C. he has won the good will and admiration of his fellow students. A little reserved in manner, rather quiet in disposition, but at heart he is a jolly good fellow. He has been a conscientious student, always standing well in his classes, at the same time taking an active part in all college activities. As a baseball player "Peter" is one of the best, in fact, pitching ball is his "long suit." His great ambition is to be of service to humanity and he expects to become a medical missionary. We know he will make a success at whatever he undertakes, for the word "failure" is not to be found in this young man's vocabulary.

Senior Class

SAMUEL HEWITT FULTON

DARLINGTON, S. C.

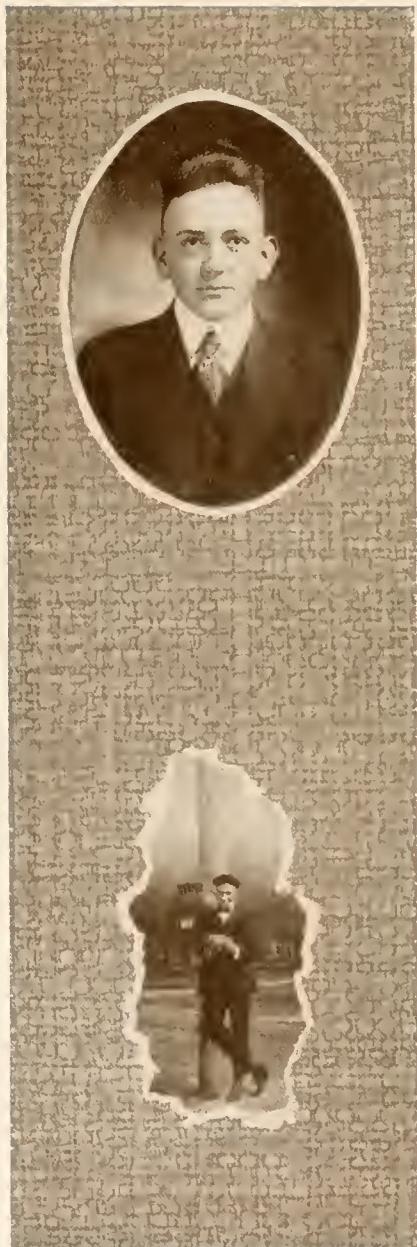

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1916; Member Philomathean Society, Doorkeeper, First Censor, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Chaplain, Treasurer, Vice-President, President; President Class; Pac-Sac Staff; Declaimers' Contest, Inter-society Debater; Inter-collegiate Debater; Debating Council; President Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President Student Body; Manager Basketball; Varsity Football; Captain Football; Wearer of "P"; Class Basketball; Class Baseball; Collegian Staff; Secretary Athletic Association.

How can we find words fitting to describe this member of our class? Hewitt entered college with the determination of making his college career a success. In this he has by no means failed, for he graduates at the head of our class. But not only has he excelled in his classroom work, but he has assumed an active part in all college activities. He is an orator, a debater, a football player, and with it all, a man. Hewitt has made a wonderful record as a football player, having played quarter for P. C. for three years. He has a most congenial disposition and is liked by all his associates. But even "Hewitt" has his failings if we might term being in love a "failing." We really do not think that with him it is a failing, for some of these days he expects to land a "Bass." Of course the "Bass" he is fishing for is not so very large, but he expects her to become a Ful(ton). Having landed his "Bass," Hewitt expects to lay aside his net and become a "fisher of men." This man has the sincere wish of the entire class for his future success and happiness.

MALCOLM RUSSELL WILLIAMSON

LANCASTER, S. C.

B.A.; Euk.

Entered College in 1915; Member Eukosmian Society, Sergeant-at-Arms, Recording Secretary, Critic, Vice-President, President; Declaimers' Contest; Winner Inter-society Orator's Medal; Inter-society Debater; Secretary Debating Council; Secretary Class; Class Editor, Editor Collegian; Pac-Sac Staff; Blue Stocking Staff; President Y. M. C. A.; President Ministerial Band; Member Glee Club; Manager Track Team.

We hardly know what to say about "Little Boy," for there is so much that we ought to say that the whole Annual itself would not hold it all, were all said. Notwithstanding Malcolm's professional proclivities in that difficult language of Athenians of old, namely, Greek, and notwithstanding much time spent in imparting to others the riches of the Hellenic language, this prodigy from in and around Lancaster has found ample time to pursue his studies in a diligent manner. Here is a man who from the very first day he entered college realized the worth of an education and realized that life is more than a passing fancy. Among his fellows he has always been held in highest esteem, not only for his decided ability to do things, but just because he is Malco'm, a man, always clean, always earnest, and always, under all conditions, the wearer of the most genial smile under whose radiance man or maid ever basked. His smile is a big help to him in his many duties. The Y. M. C. A., The Collegian, and the society of which he was a member have all profited by it. Reader, whoever you are, take note and know that here, indeed, is a man of purpose, ability, and of the highest possible ideals.

GEORGE HEMPHILL ESTES

WILKINSVILLE, S. C.

B.A.; Phi.

Entered College in 1915; Member Philomathean Society, Doorkeeper, Conductor, Critic, Vice-President; Class Poet; Collegian Staff; Class Football, Baseball, Basketball; Varsity Baseball; Wearey of 'P.'

George Hemphill Estes, the lad from Wilkinsville! But of course no one ever knew him by that name. He answers to the name of "Ziz Wheel," a name very appropriate to him, or at least about as appropriate a name as we could give him. "Ziz Wheel" is a very unusual boy in many respects; he is the only one of his kind. He always has a smile for everybody and is liked by all who know him. As a ladies' man "Ziz" is right on the job, in fact he is a real heart smasher. However, none of the fair sex can detract his attention from a little girl back home, and so this young man will most likely go back to the farm to make some little girl a good husband. "Ziz" has always stood well in his classes and at the same time has taken an active part in athletics, playing Varsity baseball, and in basketball and football being one of those humble but highly honored and admired beings called "Scrubs."

ANNIE MARIE ADAIR

CLINTON, S. C.

B.A.

Entered College in 1916.

When our class began its career we had quite a number of co-eds, but only two thought enough of us to remain with us four years. One of these is the fair young lady before us, who for the dreary years of toil through which we have passed has helped by her presence to dispel the clouds of gloom which were so prone to hover over our heads. Marie liked all her studies, but was especially fond of those subjects taught by Dr. Kennedy. We don't know why this was the case, in fact the only reason she ever gave for specializing under Dr. Kennedy was that reason peculiar to woman, "just because." We seem inclined to think, however, as do the people in Battle Creek, "there's a reason." Be that as it may we have enjoyed having Marie with us. We don't know what Marie expects to do for the next year or two, but we know that after that time she will no longer be "Miss Adair," but she will have acquired another title. Just what that will be we are not in a position to say just now.

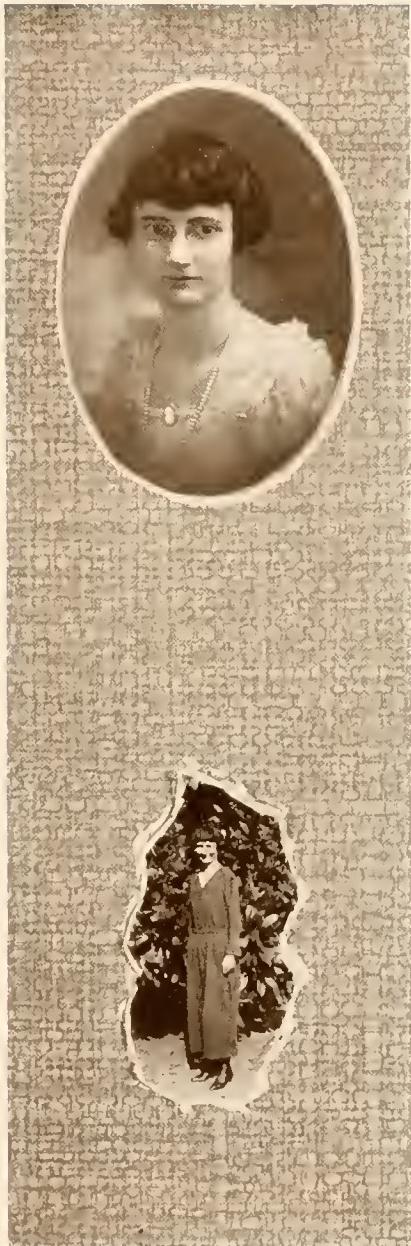

Senior Class

JULIA TINSLEY

CLINTON, S. C.

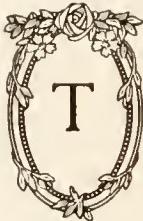

B.A.

Julia is the other co-ed that has seen fit to remain with us. From the time that this young lady first entered college she has been dominated by one thought, that of getting the best education possible. In this respect we feel confident in saying that she has succeeded. She has always studied hard, or at least she has given the rest of us that impression, for many a time we have sat through a whole period listening to Julia recite the entire lesson. She had no favorite study unless it was Pedagogy; she did have a peculiar fondness for that subject. Some day she will need it, too, because she is contemplating teaching school. I would recommend her as a teacher to any of the oncoming generation, for she does not believe in corporal punishment. We cannot imagine anyone so gentle and kind as Julia inflicting punishment on anyone. She is well equipped for whatever she undertakes to do and we all wish her well.

Senior Prophecy

SPECIAL TO THE STATE,
CLINTON, S. C., June 2, 1935.

THE famous Class of 1920 held its first reunion here on the campus of Presbyterian University yesterday. Practically all of the class was here and all joined together to make the occasion one long to be remembered. It was a source of great regret that some of the members could not be present. W. P. Beckman is now in the Congo mission field doing a great work in the medical field, while P. W. Wilson, president of the brokerage firm of Wilson & Company, in New York, wired that it would be impossible for him to be present.

The rest of the class, after a day of renewing old days, gathered together in the College Grill last night and were served a wonderful banquet, which was supervised by Julia Tinsley, who is now Professor of Domestic Science in Chicora College.

The banquet was presided over by Judge L. B. Woodson, of Washington, D. C., who added much to the occasion by the wit and humor that he has not lost with the years. The following toasts were responded to:

"Present Day Philosophy"—T. B. Hay, Ph.D., of Princeton, N. J.

"The Development of South America"—C. W. McMurray, President of the Continental Shipping Company.

"Rural Finance"—W. C. Flanagan, President of the Bank of Bowling Green.

"How to be Happy Though Married"—M. S. Woodson, Professor of Applied Economics, Harvard University.

"The Growth of P. U."—S. H. Fulton, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, Ga.

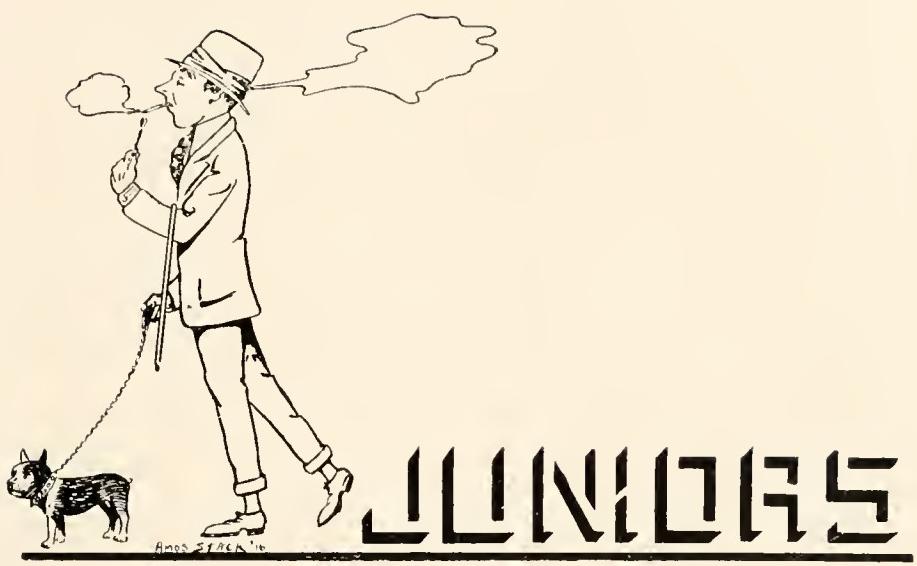

"Cld Lang Syne"—M. R. Williamson, Pastor of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City.

After these, many informal toasts were given by the guests, the following speaking: M. G. Neely, M.D., Anderson, S. C.; R. A. Hope, M.D., Walterboro, S. C.; T. H. Clarke, real estate dealer, Sumter, S. C.; D. H. Dulin, Pastor Presbyterian Church, Greenwood, S. C.; S. W. Dendy, President Dendy Drug Company, Seneca, S. C.; R. W. Park, Pastor Presbyterian Church, Lenoir, N. C.; G. H. Estes, farmer of Hickory Grove, S. C.; J. H. Dulin, M.D., Gastonia, N. C.; A. T. Taylor, Professor of English, Thornwell Orphanage; Mrs. Marie Adair Kennedy, Clinton, S. C.; W. G. Neville, Pastor First Presbyterian Church, Columbia, S. C.

After the cigars were served the class all gathered together, and under the leadership of Mr. Dendy sang the old favorite, "P. U. Will Shine Tonight." Today many of the class are leaving, as their duties call them away. Mrs. Hope is very ill of the "flu" and has sent for her husband. The whole class hopes that she will soon be better.

Before leaving the class as a committee on one congratulated Dr. Douglass on the wonderful growth of the University, and each one has determined to help him more in the work. They also decided to hold another reunion in 1940.

A Diploma

The race is on, the grind's begun,
The contestants number forty;
The test will last until we've won
The desire of Seniors haughty—
A Diploma.

The second year, the weakest gone,
A diminished class by ten;
Still swiftly running, passed the stone
That seemed to breathe for men,
A Diploma.

We still plod on the weary way,
A depleted, striving band,
But drawing nearer to the day
When the best shall grasp in hand
A Diploma.

And now it's time to start the sprint
That will cross the last long mile,
And gain what surely will imprint
On each countenance a smile,
A Diploma.

Junior Class History

S the story goes, in the fall of '17 about forty ambitious young men arrived in this distinguished place and inquired the way to the Presbyterian College. Of course, we also possessed the "Verdant" characteristic common to all "Rats."

Along with the innumerable horde of mice that have preceded us, we received our share of the instruction from the disreputable, dishonorable, and haughty "Sophs." (Wise fools.)

Our first year was one filled with pleasure, thrills and displeasures, but altogether a profitable one, and finally the day came when we slid down "Acre's shoot-the-shoots" and entered the highly respected (?) Sophomore Class.

We returned in the fall of '18 and participated in the launching of the great ship of the S. A. T. C. In this we voyaged up over the crest and down into the trough where it sank and the survivors were picked up by the three-masted schooner R. O. T.C., which carried us over a rough and storm-torn sea. This year we learned more from experience than from the well-trodden path of books. It is a year not soon to be forgotten.

For the third time we returned to these "Halls of Fame" in the fall of '19, and as our numbers were becoming depleted, fortune saw fit to recruit our class with six men who had helped to "can" the Kaiser. These men are of the best and we are glad to have them with us.

This year was marked by the returning of our beloved coach, who spent some months in France, but was neither captured by the Huns nor did he fall before the "Browning" automatics, but came back only to fall before other "Browning(s)"—O, well!

At the time of this writing a cloud is seen looming up over the horizon in the form of second term exams, but beneath this cloud we see the silver lining in the form of the Junior-Senior Banquet, when we shall don our frocktails and spend a pleasant evening.

Sophomore Class History

N September 17, 1918, there arrived in Clinton, S. C., about ninety young men to enter P. C. Some were coming only for the purpose of entering the S. A. T. C., while others came for the purpose of winning a "dip." Most of the boys who came only to enter the S. A. T. C. did not return after Christmas, but some were persuaded to return and renew the battle.

War was the prevalent spirit of 1918, and most surely were the "Rats" convinced that Sherman's conception of war is still true. We were warred upon, having most sudden and disastrous attacks upon the rear.

In September, 1919, we returned full fledged "Sophs." Laboriously we worked in different fields, first rendering great service to the "Rats" by the authority we had obtained from the Sophs of our Freshman year. This year we received the other end of the paddle. We called upon our new friends, endeavoring to show them our authority by calling for a semi-circle, etc. Soon we assumed a more serious attitude and began hard work on our subjects toward our "dip."

Some of our class are still being assaulted and insulted by the "P. Q." formula. Others are struggling with foreign languages of their choice. Some wear glasses to "see the point," while we all suffer at the hands of the "Ruination of the College."

On the athletic field we did our best, furnishing men for football, basketball, and baseball teams.

When young men are coming to college to learn in theory how to manage and operate large corporations, some of the "Sophs" are putting into practice their newly acquired knowledge. We now have the "firm," a large pressing establishment where trousers are pressed into squares. Next the home of "Hershey's," where a large candy establishment is run by two of our classmates. Still another corporation, "The petite barber shop of quality," with shine boy and all necessary equipment.

After considering all the above, we come to the conclusion that this Sophomore Class will, in some day in some way, be a great credit to the institution which is to be our Alma Mater. "Now, that's all there are to it."

PH-SAC 200

Freshman Class History

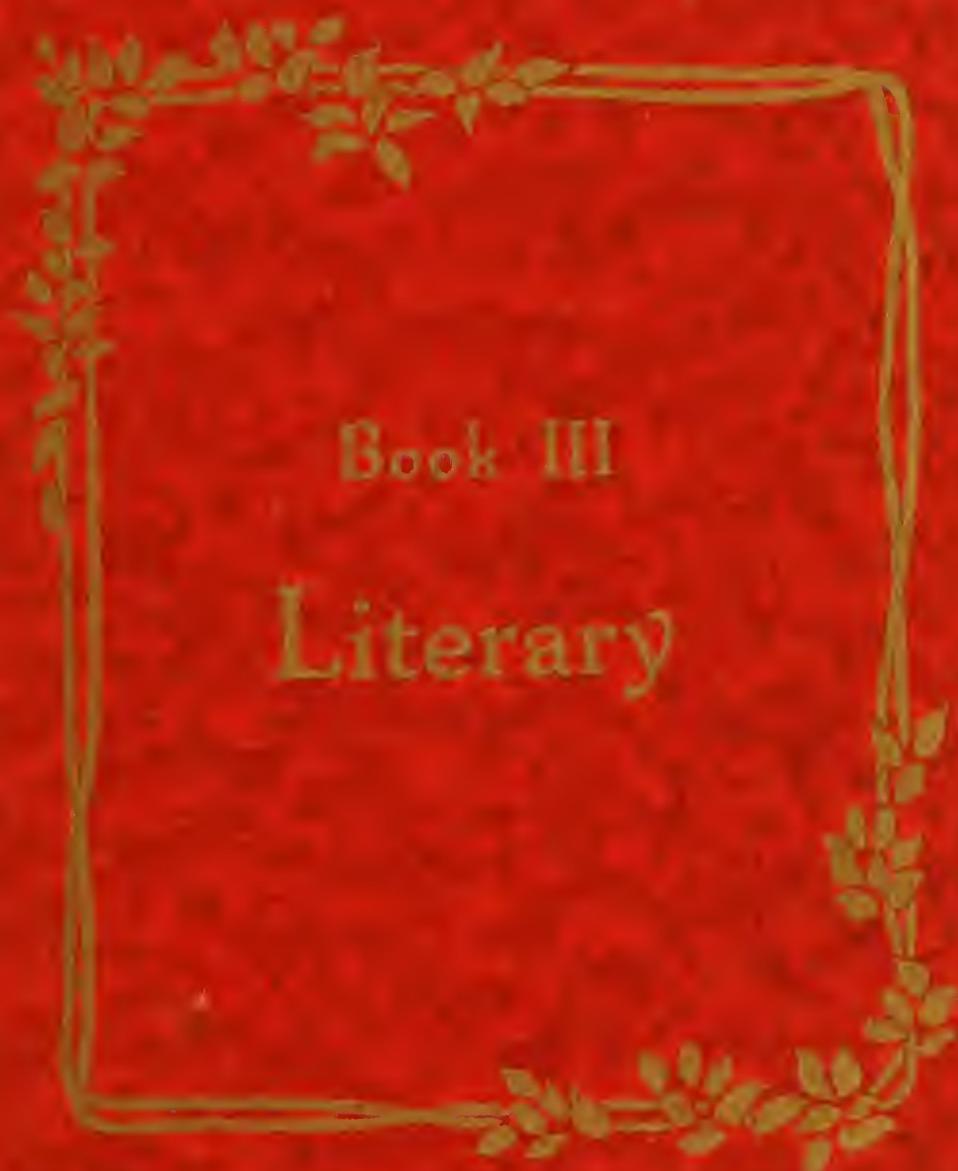

N the memorial day, September 9, 1919, forty-four weary, forlorn, distracted, homesick bipeds arrived at P. C. to begin the long, hard journey to knowledge. We were met by the loving, kind-hearted Sophomores and soon became accustomed to the name "Rats," and were taught the rules and regulations by which we were to abide. This change from bipeds to quadrupeds was, however, not effected in a day. But under the constant tutorship of the Sophomores, assisted by their ever-present paddles, the desired changes soon becomes apparent. The perilous journey in the quest of knowledge had begun.

Many dates are stamped indelibly on the memories of the class as red letter days. First comes the night when we were introduced to the merchants of the town, and discovered that we were born to be track men. Then came the "Rat" reception, when we were so royally entertained by the Y. M. C. A. and met the young ladies of the town. This is when so many of us lost our hearts and discovered that we were sports. Finally came the night when Mrs. Douglas entertained us and we met the Mother of the college. This is the night we discovered that we were sleepy before we found our beds.

Although the "Rats" were rather timid around the upperclassmen, they were far from timid when the college called for men on the athletic teams. We were well represented on the football squad by Sholar, Wade, and Williamson, the latter winning his letter; on the track team by Dilling, who helped win the cup at Newberry; on the basketball team by Scott and Williamson, and we are expecting some of the men to make a good showing in baseball.

A few of our men fell by the wayside and did not return after Christmas, but those of us who did soon settled down again on the road to knowledge with Math and Sophs as our chief tormenters.

We are now nearing the first crossing on the pathway of our college career. We shall soon part for the summer vacation. Forgetting the things that are behind, let us ever look forward to the day when we shall be Sophomores and come back next year determined to make a creditable record for our class and for P. C.

Last Night

Last night in the cold grave in France
Where they laid me I could not sleep.
I felt you calling and calling.

And so I came.
Out of the arms of death I sped to yours,
Over the wide, wide waves
I flew in the wind to your pillow.

I saw the moonlight
Toying with your sca'tered hair,
I saw the starlight
Glisten in your tears,
I felt the deep sobbing in your heart,
I heard you murmuring
Unsteadily as you breathed,
I bended close and listened,
'Twas my name.

And then you felt a warm, sweet breeze, perhaps,
For I bent low and kissed your trembling lips.
I remembered,
And even Death cannot make
Love forget.

Some night,
When the stars are lighting a silver path
Across the sea,
And the moon is enchanting
The cross-dotted fields of France,
I shall kiss you again,
And high in my arms
Will I bear you across the waves
To sleep with me among the crosses.

W. G. NEVILLE, L. E. (Wt., 140)

It was a great day for P. C. when "Hap" stepped under the Garnet and Blue and offered his all for her victory or defeat. "Hoolie" has been accused of thinking and talking only of Spartanburg and Converse, but he has proved a true Spartan in the game, and is also noted for his individual line of Convers(ation), which keeps that "pep" in the team. He has played his last game for P. C., but will long be remembered by all, and he goes out leaving a place vacant that will be hard to fill with his equal.

J. T. RICHARDSON, Captain R. H. (Wt., 169)

Well, here's a Winnsboro product and the time is yet to come when "Laurie" will cast reflection on his home town; for he is twin brother to the "Wind" and "Burrows" through a line like a ground mole through a sand pile. When you see tears in the eyes of a man of "Rich's" caliber you can just look out for something to happen; then give him the "pigskin" and write the results in your "little book." "Laurie," old boy, you are a true and clean sport!

L. S. McMILLAN, Captain-Elect F. B. (Wt., 143)

"Pistol Ball Lonnie" has more than won his title, for he goes through a line like a French 75. If a hole large enough for a mouse can be found, look for "Slim" about fifteen yards farther on. From the side lines you hear something like this: "Gosh! LOOK AT THAT FELLOW RUN," and it is indeed something to see. "Lucile" has made a profession of untying the ball carriers' shoe strings, and he is a great artist at his game. He never misses his man. We are all glad to say that "Mac" has another year with us. He is one worth having.

M. A. DURANT, L. G. (Wt., 169)

"Durie" is a man of few words at all times, but he acts when action is needed, more especially in the man's game of football, and he plays a good, clean, straight, hard game. Judging from the excellent football that he plays and from his feet, one would truly say that he was the guy that put foot into football. Yes, "Durie," you guard well in the game and you must now guard your steps and never stray from the straight and narrow path that leads to old P. C.

H. L. EICHELBERGER, R. T. (Wt., 152)

"Uncle Ugly Ike" is the man who knows the game from A to Z, and who puts all his science into action. It has even been suggested that he carry a rule book on his person in the game to prove his points. He is one of the returned prodigals of that old star team of '17, and he was welcomed with a shout as he came to assist in putting P. C. on the football map again. We are looking to him for as much in the future as he has given us in the past. We cannot expect more. Johnson's all-state team, 1919.

L. B. WOODCOON, L. E. (Wt., 155)

Always look for "Woody" at right end, and he is always right there with the goods. This is the only guy that succeeded in scoring a touchdown against Clemson in '19. "Woody" has a great way of getting lost to the side lines and his opponent, and then unaccountably we see him far down the field gathering in one of "Huerta's" 40-yard passes and trotting across the goal. He scored more points in '19 than any other man on the team, and also did some great defensive work. "Woody" will always be remembered by all as one who played his game to a finish. Johnson's all-state team, 1919.

M. S. WOODSON, C. (Wt., 166)

Here's another old P. C. star who returned to us from the navy. His three years in service, however, did not impair his football qualities and during the past year he has, as of old, filled the gap at center and made this position well nigh impregnable. Realizing that this would be his last year on the gridiron "Woody" has made his playing, never mediocre, a feature of an exceptionally strong team. Here's to you, "Kid;" hit 'em low and hard!

G. W. BELK, R. H. (Wt., 167)

"Juckie Georgianna Belk," better known as Davidson's Jonah, is our right half, who hails from the "Tar Heel" state, and he sticks to his man like a tar baby. It was "Juck" who in the Davidson bout kept his "brethren" in a fever of fearful anticipation for four quarters and caused them to sigh thankfully when the momentarily expected did not happen. Belk can play a brand of football hard to equal and we are glad to count him as one strong spot for next season.

L. E. KIRVEN, C. and R. G. (Wt., 156)

Yes, he loves it, and he is football from the crown of his head to the sole of his foot. Much to his mental torture he was kept out of the '17 season by a leg fracture, but since then he has showed us what he really had in store for us. Playing center in '18 and an alternating center and guard in '19, we can see in him a strong factor for the coming season. "Old Top," we know you can fill that hole at center, and what's more, keep it filled, so go to it!

D. L. WILLIAMSON, R. G. (Wt., 190)

Here's one born into the football world, and with the help of Coach Johnson we now have this hunk of 190 pounds to build up around for the next three years. But Bill is a modest "Little Chap," and at "pep" meetings he gives us something like this: "Well, fellows, I haven't got but 190 pounds, but I'm going to give it all to P. C. tomorrow," and he does give it all, too, heart and soul. Yes, my lad, you will be on the football map some day and remember old P. C. is looking to you.

S. H. FULTON, Q. B. (Wt., 156)

This is a man who was cut out for a football player. The man in whom P. C. had confidence in on the gridiron. The man who carried the goods and was well able to deliver them. His ability to run the team is seldom surpassed, and we believe he could knock a dime off the fence rail with the "pig-skin" any time. He was our "shock troops," and any opponent coming within his grasp would certainly wish for a few shock absorbers as well as rabbit feet to be scattered over his person. "Huerta" we wish as much success for you in the game of life as you have had on the football field.

D. A. BLAKELY, L. T. (Wt., 190)

When it's fourth down and goal to go, call left tackle back and give "Big Blake" the ball, then look on with satisfaction and see that 170 pounds of human beef clear out a wagon road and lay the coveted article gently down across the goal. This fellow is of the type who asks no quarter and gives none, and woe to the one who starts any "rough stuff." King David, we are anxious to see you again on the gridiron and we are expectantly awaiting the all-state selection of 1920. Johnson's all-state team, 1919.

G. H. ESTES, Sub. Q. B. (Wt., 146)

This "gentleman from Hickory Grove," the inimitable "Ziz-Wheel," is a living memorial to the fact that a man can play hard ball and play it well even on the scrub team. "Buzz" did not take an active part in football 'til his Junior and Senior years. Had he gone out upon his entrance in college there is no telling what would have happened. There are few laurels given to a scrub by the world, and so much credit is due this man who has worked hard for P. C.

T. B. HAY, Sub. G. (Wt., 153)

"Acre" is another man who for four seasons of hard work has done much in helping to put P. C. on the football map. Coming to us well fed on "cabbage" and cornbread, he has made a fit subject for the gridiron. Something could be said of each "sub" who faithfully toiled for the Garnet and Blue, but here is one to whom special mention is due on account of his consistency as a player. Old boy, as Martin's Point reclaims you to herself, we wish you luck.

J. H. DULIN, Sub. C. (Wt., 152)

Yes, some one is always doomed to hard luck, and it came to this member of our family. Dulin has done more to help put out a team for P. C. in the last four years than possibly any other non-letter man, and had it not been for an accident, in the form of a sprained ankle, somebody would have seen trouble at center. Although playing in only a few games, "Duggin" was given a letter this year and we wish for many more like him as fit wearers of the "P."

W. C. FLANAGAN, Manager

Well, old man, if you manage the affairs of life as you did the football team we predict for you a success. "Duchie" indeed made us a good one and had a schedule well on a level with our team, and we wish for him the best of luck and hope for ourselves another, equally as good, to fill his place.

A. T. WILSON, Sub. H. (Wt., 136)

In Jack we have a man who bids fair to become a gridiron artist before he finishes. Although he is rather short in his build from the ground up, he is hard to upset. He is as tough as lightwood knot and plays with a force little expected in a man his size. We are counting on him to assist the Blue Stockings in wresting a goodly number of pigskins from her opponents next spring.

W. A. JOHNSON, Coach

"Swede" is the biggest and best coach in the state. He has now been with us for four years, and during that time he has made an unparalleled record for himself as well as for P. C., and his reputation as a coach has spread far and wide. And Coach holds a place in the hearts of each member of the faculty, the student body, and every one who comes in contact with him, even his rivals, which lifts his far above the level of the average coach. We are back of you for next year, Coach!

Newberry Run

IN accordance with the annual custom, the state cross-country run for 1918 was held at Newberry on Thanksgiving Day. Owing to existing conditions only three colleges were represented, Clemson, Newberry and Presbyterian sending teams. A large crowd was out to see the race, which started from the Administration Building of Newberry College and extended over the country for a distance of five miles, ending up on the athletic field, where the crowd had assembled to see the annual P. C.-Newberry football game. Clemson, having won the cup for the preceding two years, sent a strong team, hoping to capture the trophy for the third year and thus keep it for good. Newberry was well represented; while wearing the Garnet and Blue were four good men and true, who were determined that those colors should come in first.

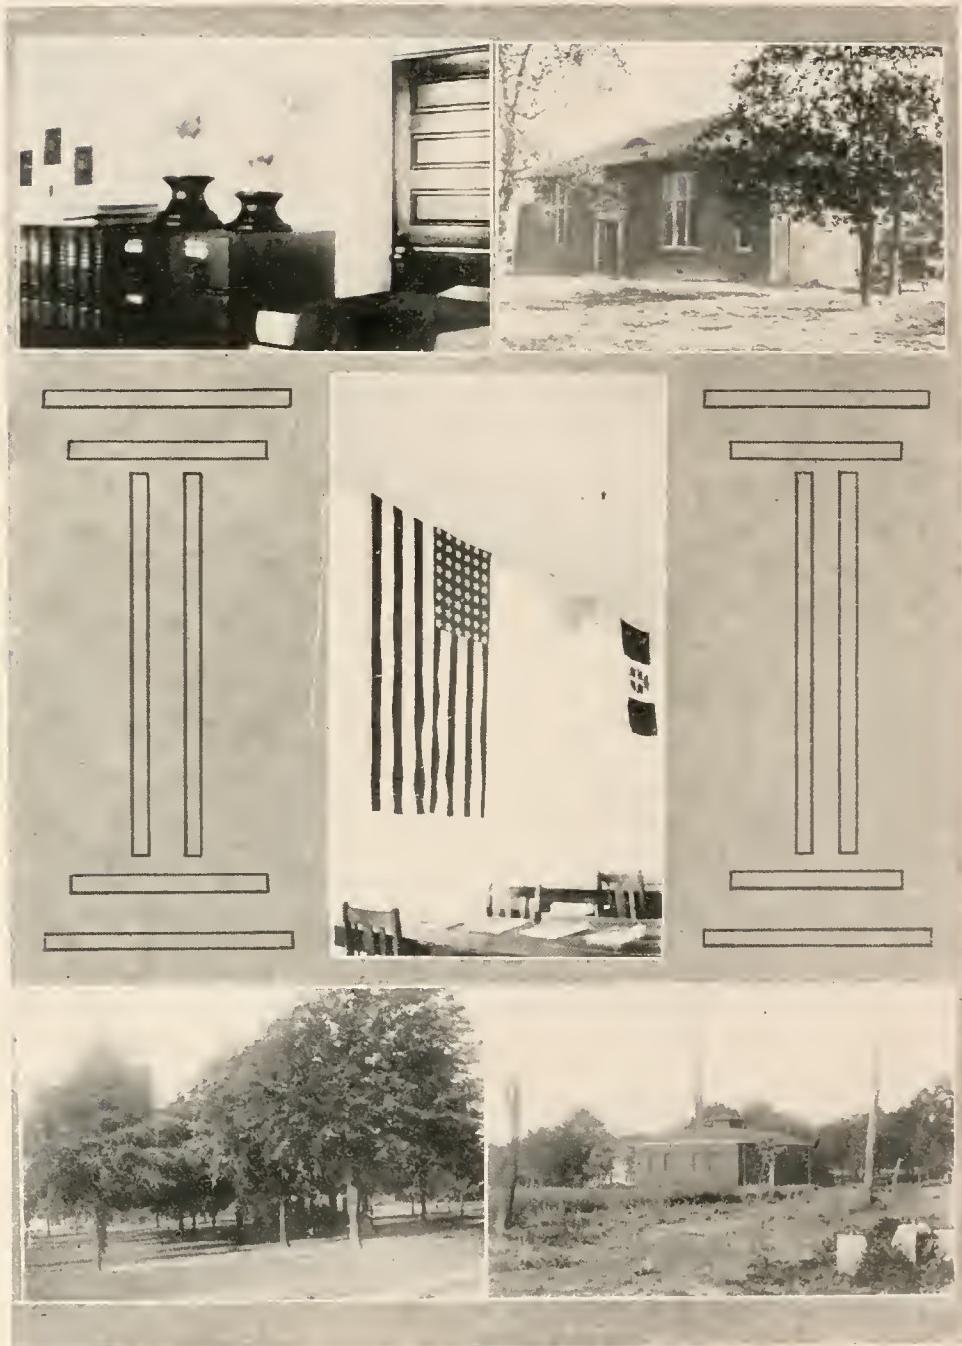

At the crack of the gun the men were off at a good pace, all keeping together, but soon they began to string out and soon men were to be seen in twos and threes fighting it out between themselves along the road. After a long, weary five miles they again hove in sight and P. C. was well presented. While one Clemson man was in the lead, the succeeding three wore the Garnet and Blue, while the sixth man in wore the same colors. Thus by the point system P. C. had won the cup. It was a great race, reflecting credit on the men who ran and the man who coached them, and we only hope in the future years other P. C. runners will again bring the cup back to P. C.'s trophy hall.

Y. M. C. A.

N September 22, 1919, the Young Men's Christian Association began its year's work with the annual reception given by the Y. M. C. A. for the special benefit of the new men. The main purpose of this reception is to acquaint the new men with the work and workers of the Y. M. C. A., and also to become acquainted with the young people of the town. The reception was enjoyed by all those who attended and created a desire among the students to do more efficient work.

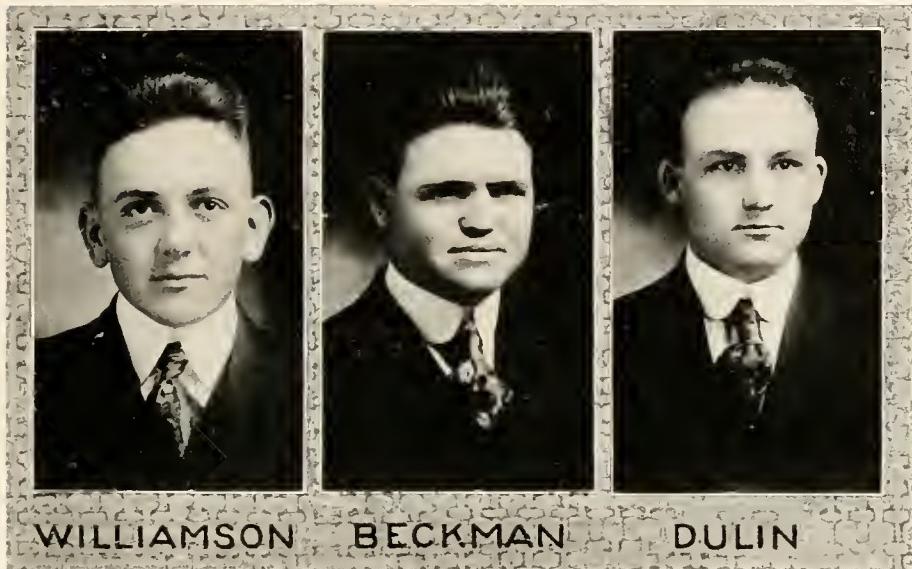

Very soon the membership committee began its campaign for new men and was very successful, getting about seventy-five per cent of the new men. The officers were as follows: M. R. Williamson, President; W. P. Beckman, Vice-President; J. H. Dulin, Secretary and Treasurer. These men began work early in an earnest endeavor to make the season of 1919-20 the greatest that the organization had ever witnessed, for the officers were part of the delegation that represented P. C. at the Y. M. C. A. convention that was held at Blue Ridge last summer and there they obtained new ideas as to how the work of the organization should be carried on, and they returned determined to put their whole heart into the work. It is hoped that all of the officers will be able to attend the convention that will be held this year, for one derives great good from attending them.

Our regular weekly services were held every Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and we have had a very good attendance at every meeting. At the meetings the main talks were supplied by speakers selected from the student body and members of the faculty, or sometimes from the ministers or other influential church workers of the town. At one meeting we had with us Dr. J. O. Reavis, from the Columbia Theological Seminary. This meeting was thoroughly enjoyed by all, for Dr. Reavis is a very interesting speaker. The student body, under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A., sent their full quota to the Student Volunteer Convention that was held at Des Moines, Ia. These men gave several very interesting talks as to the work done at the convention.

The "Morning Watch" that was held every morning just before breakfast, was done away with several years ago. The time was found not to work so well, so the time was changed to just after supper and the name was changed to that of the "Prayer Circle." Every evening we had a goodly number of boys who gathered in the auditorium to give praise and prayer to their Heavenly Father.

QUIPS AND CHIPS

Which is the better, to learn to speak in several languages, or to learn to keep your mouth shut in one?

* * *

Rat Montgomery: "You must find the dictionary interesting, for you look at it enough."

Kirven: "No, more amusing than interesting. It spells words differently from myself."

* * *

Dr. Hays: "Woodson, I'll send you some pills for your bad cold."

"Woody": "Oh, never mind, you may have it for nothing."

* * *

Rat Prince (discussing apple swiping): "But the cop might get an innocent man."

Crawford: "Anybody will do in a pinch."

* * *

Fair One at Junior-Senior Banquet: "You haven't complimented my new gown yet."

Neely: "I shall have to wait until you get up from the table to see it."

* * *

Wherry: "Why are you looking so prim these days? You must have a girl here?"

Williamson: "No, the days seem like weeks, and so I take a bath most every day."

* * *

Hay: "Professor, I'm indebted to you for all I know."

Prof: "Oh, don't mention such a trifle."

* * *

Alford: "Tell me, am I the first lover you ever had?"

Girlie: "Well, the first red-headed one, anyway."

Prof. M.: "I suppose you'll go into business with your father, after graduating?"
"Senior Flany": "No, sir; he doesn't carry a line of sporting goods."

* * *

"Laura" (to fair one): "How can I show you all that is in my heart?"
Fair one: "Cut it out."

* * *

Prof. K. in Economics: "Smith, do you believe in taxing breweries?"
Smith: "To their full capacity, sir."

* * *

Hafner: "I've been doing my Annual work."

Rat Scott: "Taking a bath, I suppose."

* * *

Prof. K. (in Sociology): "Why is it that more baby boys die than do baby girls?"
Clark: "Because they don't take as good care of themselves."

* * *

Prof. W.: "You are going into society too heavily, Mr. Wood, to attend to your classes properly."

Wood: "B-u-t——"

Prof. W.: "Well, you may make a 'B' in society, but you will only register an 'E' in your lessons if you continue."

* * *

Beckman: "Wonder why it is that an average woman will marry money rather than brains?"

Dendy: "Because she is a better judge of money than brains."

* * *

Durant: "If a conductor should overlook you, would you pay him anyway?"

Edmunds: "I've waited for such a chance for quite a while, to test myself, but as yet one has never skipped me."

ODE TO SLUMGULION

Half a meal, half a meal,
Half a meal onward,
All in the Mess Hall of Judd
Ate the one hundred.
"Forward the hot biscuit!
Into the valley of death.
"Charge it to Dad!" they said.
Slide the Slumgulion.

Forward came cold biscuit.
Was there a man dismayed?
Not tho' the sufferers knew
Someone had blundered.
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs but to eat and die,
Slick old Slumgulion.

Biscuits to right of them,
Biscuits to left of them,
Biscuits in front of them,
Volleyed and thundered.
Tho' it tasted like ———,
Boldly they ate and well,
Into the jaws of us
And onward it going, fell
Slucy Slumgulion.

When will Spence's pure nerve fade?
Oh, the wild charge he made,
All the world wondered
That we have paid.
Honor the charge he made,
But pity us who once made
A healthy one hundred.

The Southern Life & Trust Company and allied companies have made real estate loans amounting to about $6,000,000. Practically all of this money was loaned to policyholders of the company, and for the most part was used by them in building homes and in buying and improving farms.

The Company offers a thoroughly practical course in life insurance salesmanship, tuition free. Write us for particulars.

THE PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

THE Synod of South Carolina is now in a campaign to raise $1,000,000 for its educational institutions. The Presbyterian College is to get $500,000.

This justifies the claim: Additional buildings; new gymnasium; better equipment; larger faculty, broader course; more students; stronger athletic teams.

Coach Johnson has contracted to be with the college again next year. This assures strong athletic teams. The college now has a professor to every fourteen students, and will add three new men to the faculty next year.
